

Henge Tour: 11th May 2011 - Astrological weather forecast

The first quarter Moon is the ruler of the 4th, which ordinarily would suggest a rainy day in May ...

However, the Moon begins the day in Leo and is Trine a host of other planets which are also in a fire sign, Aries: Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Mars ...

While I would suggest, the combined heat of this set counters the potential for a wet day, it does not neuter the possibility altogether.

Saturn in Libra suggests a dry and fair day, but it is square Pluto, so again, it is a bit of a mixed bag of possibilities. My intuition leans toward it being a fair day overall.

In a nutshell then; a warm day with a possibility of light showers ...
